Your authorization

By signing this Letter of Authorization, I authorize Merrill Lynch to debit fees as indicated above, and understand that:

- All monthly asset-based fees relating to the enrollment of the above referenced account(s) in a Merrill Lynch Investment Advisory or brokerage program/service will be paid from the assets held in the Alternate Debit Account designated in Part 1.
- In accordance with the terms of the applicable Account Agreement, if there is insufficient cash and/or cash equivalents in the Alternate Debit Account to pay the entire fee for each Account in any given month or if, for any other reason, Merrill Lynch is unable to deduct the fees owed by a Managed Account from the assets held in the Alternate Debit Account, the respective Managed Account will be liable for any and all amounts due Merrill Lynch. I further understand that, under such circumstances, Merrill Lynch, without any prior notice, is authorized to deduct all fees owed from the Managed Account (including an IRA as the case may be) and, as necessary, sell assets in the Managed Account (including an IRA as the case may be).
- There may be tax consequences from my selection of the Alternate Debit Account to pay the asset-based fees of the Managed Account. Accordingly, I understand that I should seek the advice of a qualified tax professional before I sign this Letter of Authorization.
- This authorization will remain in effect until I notify Merrill Lynch in writing of its revocation or the Alternate Debit Account is closed.
- This authorization will automatically terminate if there are any changes to the title of the Alternate Debit Account or if withdrawals from the Alternate Debit Account can no longer be made without the consent of another party. (For example, pledged collateral accounts requiring the consent of the creditor.)
- I agree to indemnify and hold Merrill Lynch harmless from any loss, liability, cost or expense for acting upon my representations or instructions, except as limited by applicable law.
